Elaborate Program to Give City 'New Look'

BECK'S FINANCIAL DEALS BARED

Widening Of Street Planned

City Council this morning presented an elaborate program designed to give the City of Monessen a "new look".

The program, which the City hopes to complete this year, proposes the following:

1. Widening and repaving of Schoonmaker avenue from Sixth to 12th streets.

2. Complete resurfacing of Donner avenue and repairing of sidewalks, where needed.

3. Entirely new and modern lighting system for Donner and Schoonmaker avenues.

Mayor Hugo J. Parente told Council this morning that he has been notified that the State Department of Highways intends to start work on the Schoonmaker avenue project about July 1.

Widening Project

The project will cover three-fourths of a mile, beginning in front of the Baptist Church near Sixth street and ending in front of the Pittsburgh Steel Federal Credit Union office near 17th street.

The estimated cost of the widening and repaving has been set at $135,000, which the State will pay. The City will pay about $50,000 for the new sidewalks and curbing included in the project.

If the project gets under way as scheduled, City Engineer John Kotch, III, believes it can be completed by October, barring unforeseen difficulties.

The Mayor also informed Council that the State Highways Department, effective today, will take over the maintenance of the entire length of Donner avenue. The State has been in charge of the maintenance of Schoonmaker avenue for many years.

The Mayor said one of the first things the City intends doing is to request the State to resurface Donner avenue completely.

If the State goes along witht he request, the Mayor stated, it may mean that "at least we can get rid of the unused streetcar rails that have been both a traffic menace and an 'eyesore' ".

To Cover Tracks

He said if they don't remove the tracks "at least they will be covered during the resurfacing."

Councilmen David Victoria and John Kotch, Jr., both said there are many sidewalks on Donner avenue that need repairing and suggested these be repaired "before or when the street is resurfaced."

Victoria said if the City is to get a "new look we should make sure we include everything." Other members of Council agreed.

As for the new lighting system, Parente suggested the newest and most modern.

"It will mean a great deal to the business district," he said.

Kotch will contact West Penn Power Co. officials on the proposed new lighting system and make a report at the next meeting.

Leader in Warning To Labor Unions

PITTSBURGH (UP) — Gov. George M. Leader said today that while a "handful of union leaders are in need of a Spring housecleaning," the vast majority of America's responsible unions need fear no fair investigation from any source.

The governor, indirectly referring to the current Senate investigation of the Teamsters' Union, warned delegates to the 55th annual convention of the Pennsylvania Federation of Labor here against any governmental attempt to control the structure of unions.

City to Declare Moratorium on Sewer Installing

Monessen property owners seeking new sewers were informed by City Council this morning there is little possibility of the City installing any more new sewers this year.

Mayor Hugo J. Parente said it appears that only the sewers contracted for "up to today" will be installed.

He said, however, the City will make another survey of the sewer problem around May 1. At that time, he said, "we may be able to decide on additional sewers. Right now we're installing as many sewers as the budget will allow."

Council this morning heard the first reading of an ordinance calling for the widening of a corner at the intersection of McKee avenue and McKee Way and the widening of a portion of Nash and Leeds avenue.

The project will either ease or eliminate traffic hazards on the thoroughfares.

Coucnil also heard the reading of a resolution calling for the transfer of $2,500 from the City Planning and Zoning fund to the Redevelopment Authority fund. The Authority requested the $2,500 to meet some of the expenses incurred in its work.

Council opened three bids for a new street cleaning sweeper. Submitting bids were Brinker Co., of Pittsburgh. $9,800; Patterson Co., of Carnegie, $9,590, and Allied Equipment, of Carnegie, $9,220. Prices include the trade-in allowance for the present sweeper.

Crackdown on Illegal Parkers

Monessen police handed out 40 "red" tickets last night and early today for illegal parking on Schoonmaker avenue between 12th and 17th streets.

Police Chief Michael Kuvinka said the tickets were for violation of the two hour limit in the area. He said police acted after complaints from businessmen that their customers had no place to park because of the repeated violations.

Kuvinka pointed out there is ample parking space in the Pittsburgh Steel Co. lot at 17th street.

Ike Hits Slashing Of Budget

WASHINGTON (UP)—President Eisenhower today vehemently attacked piecemeal budget cuts by Congress as fatuous and the most foolish kind of economy.

As for a specific recommendation by Sen. Harry F. Byrd (D-Va) that the $71.8 billion budget for fiscal 1958 be cut by $5 billion, the President said he did not believe a cut of this size could be accommodated within the security and welfare requirements of the United States.

Byrd made that reduction proposal in a speech prepared for delivery in the Senate today.

In the most vigorous discussion of the budget to date, the President challenged Congress to decide for itself whether the American people wanted to cut down on payments to veterans, agricultural benefits and the construction of new schools. He said these are the only expenses that could be chopped down, because to reduce expenditures for defense, mutual aid and the Atomic Energy Commission would be to invite international trouble.

Long Press Conference

Mr. Eisenhower's news conference ran unusually long—35 minutes—as he went to great length to support his budget against growing demands on Capitol Hill for sharp reductions.

He said savings undoubtedly were possible but he was somewhat amazed to notice recently that a number of persons were becoming more economy-minded than before.

He energetically rejected the idea of any major cuts in the defense or foreign aid programs. So the only places big cuts could be made would be such possibilities as the Post Office Department, now laboring under an undesirable deficit, fixed benefits for veterans, federal aid for school construction, and farm benefits.

He said he also wanted to point out that Congress has authorized many public works without proper preliminary surveys. He said he believed that Congress had done this obviously for political reasons.

Mr. Eisenhower said it was futile to talk about keeping up the United States' position in the world and still to advocate severe budget cuts.

He added that some people become highly economy conscious without knowing what they are talking about.

When he was asked specifically about Byrd's recommendations for a $5 billion cut, the President said he did not believe a cut of that size could be made without danger to the basic defense and security programs of this country.

The President said the House and Senate must look at basic

BECK(s) MARK THE SPOT — Teamsters Union President Dave Beck is a picture of varied moods as he appeared before the Senate Labor Rackets Committee in Washington yesterday. Beck was alternately belligerent, humorous, pensive and relaxed. (United Press Telephoto.)

$85,000 Luxury Items Bought for Teamsters Head

WASHINGTON (UP)—Teamsters Boss Dave Beck's personal purchasing agent swore today he did not know the union paid for the $85,000 worth of luxury items, including $19 silk shirts, which he bought for Beck.

Nathan W. Shefferman of Chicago admitted to the Senate Rackets Committee that he spent more than $85,000 for Beck and Dave Beck Jr. from 1949 through 1953 for items including $54 worth of golf balls and $15 worth of diapers.

Shefferman insisted, however, that he never knew the money came from coffers of the Teamsters Union until the income tax people dropped around to study Beck's finances.

Shefferman was recalled to the witness chair as the committee set out to show the defiant boss of the nation's biggest union that it can prove what he did with some of the $322,000 they claim he took from Teamsters treasuries.

Beck waited in a chair behind Shefferman to resume his own testimony, which Tuesday consisted mainly in invoking the Fifth Amendment's protection against self-incrimination.

Shefferman, a friend of Beck for 20 years, said he is a labor relations consultant for management and operates a firm called Union Merchandizing which he said bought $94,000 worth of goods for Beck, Beck's son, and Norman Gessert, a cousin of Mrs. Dave Beck.

The silver - haired Shefferman said he was told later by investigators that his own records show $85,000 of this came from union funds.

He said Beck "would call and tell me he'd like to have an icebox, probably, or a washing machine."

The order would then be turned over to a secretary with whatever shipping instructions Beck gave, Shefferman said.

Shefferman said the bills he paid for Beck included $8 for repairs on the Teamsters chief's false teeth when Beck "turned up in Chicago with a broken plate."

Shefferman sparred mildly with Committee Chairman John L. McClellan (D-Ark) over just what procurement services he had performed for Beck. McClellan finally tagged him Beck's "purchasing" agent.

Shefferman stressed that he paid for the material with his own money and "I was reimbursed with union funds."

Then, at the request of McClellan and Committee Counsel Robert F. Kennedy, Shefferman began reading through the committee's list of sample items "purchased for Dave Beck by Nathan Shefferman with Teamsters Union funds."

His expressions of amazement at some of the items listed had the audience in the big marble-

Driver Unhurt As Car Skids On Route 88

A 16 year old motorist escapes injury yesterday when his car skidded on Route 88 in Dunlevy yesterday, crashing into a parked car and truck.

State Police, who identified the driver as John Bilsky, of Roscoe, estimated damages at more than $2,500.

Police said Bilsky was travelling south on Route 88 at 5:10 p. m. during a rainfall when he lost control of his vehicle. They estimated damage to the Bilsky car at $1,000.

Also damaged was a parked car owned by Leo J. Cappelli, of 1214 Prospect avenue, Charleroi, and a parked truck owned by Leonard Heino, of Dunlevy. Police said damage to the car amounted to $1,500 and to the truck $50.

Beck Is Making Sure Duff's Name Pops Up

WASHINGTON (UP) — The quizzing of Dave Beck, who rose from laundry truck driver to the biggest wheel in the Teamsters Union, is providing the hottest show on Capitol Hill since the 1954 Army-McCarthy hearings.

It is taking place in the same arena — the cavernous caucus room of the Senate Office Building where white marble walls stretch two stories high, cameramen cuss each other in the crush and newsmen are packed at press tables like sardines without olive oil.

Only the red carpet has been changed. The old one wore out.

The taxpayers show up for this one. They were in line 2½ hours before Tuesday's opening session waiting for seats.

Duff not Present

There was the big man who wasn't there: Former Sen. James H. Duff (R-Pa), who recently became Beck's attorney, but, as he made plain at the time, did not show up to sit with him. Instead Beck was counselled — frequently — by Arthur D. Condon, a member of Duff's firm.

But Beck seldom let the senators forget that one of their former colleagues was in his corner. For more than an hour he hauled "Big Jim" Duff's name into nearly every answer, saying Duff advised him to invoke the Fifth Amendment, though sometimes he phrased it more elegantly than that.

One assiduous reporter figured Beck invoked Duff's name about 100 times.

Finally Sen. Pat McNamara (D-Mich), himself a former union official, announced he was "not at all impressed" by the invocation of "ex-Senator" Duff — and he stressed the "ex."

The crowd applauded.

Cancer Drive Opens Tonight

Captains of the American Cancer Fund campaign in Monessen are to receive solicitation kits tonight at 8 o'clock at the Kneseth Israel Synagogue on Watkins avenue, it was announced today.

Representatives from the Westmoreland County Chapter, Helen Boards and Dr. A. J. Porter, will be present.

It was also announced that a house-to-house drive for funds to fight cancer will be conducted this year by Monessen B'nai B'rith, with Mrs. Irvin Bayer, chairman, and Mrs. Morris Epstein, co-chairman.

Coal Miners to Get Pay Increase

WASHINGTON (UP)—An additional 80 cents-a-day wage will be paid 200,000 soft coal miners throughout the nation beginning next Monday.

The increase was provided in contracts negotiated last Oct. 14 and raises the basic daily pay for bituminous miners to $22.25.

The contract gives the miners a two-stage $2 per day increase in wages with $1.20 effective last October and the remaining 80 cents effective April 1.

Holiday benefits worth 40 cents daily also were included in the contract.

CHICAGO (UP)—The National Council on Alcoholism has issued invitations for a cocktail party Thursday at the La Salle Hotel.

Red Cross in Campaign Plans

Pat Dodaro, president of the Monessen Jaycees and chairman of the house-to-house fund campaign for the Monessen-Belle Vernon Red Cross Chapter, has called a meeting of all captains and workers connected with the drive for tomorrow night at 7:30 at the Chamber of Commerce office, 335 Schoonmaker avenue.

Solicitation supply kits will be distributed and instructions issued.

The house-to-house campaign is being conducted to permit those who have not yet contributed to do so. It will be held Wednesday, April 3.

Outline Steps to Get Redevelopment Started

Assured of a $350,000 state allocation, Monessen's Planning Commission and Redevelopment Authority today announced the next steps in an ambitious project to redevelop the extreme northeastern part of the city.

The proposed 27 acre site — situated adjacent to the Pittsburgh and Lake Erie Railroad at the eastern city line — will now be certified and legal boundaries established.

When this is completed the Redevelopment Authority will apply to the federal government for $1,400,000 in additional funds.

After federal approval is granted, the Authority must hire a full-time executive director to administer the program.

Then will follow public hearings on condemnation proceedings, acquisition of land, etc. Notices of the hearings must appear in the city newspaper three times 10 days prior to the hearing date.

Once the hearings are held and objections settled, the area will be cleared and made ready for redevelopment.

This general procedure was outlined to the participating Monessen agencies yesterday during a meeting in Harrisburg.

Present at the meeting were William B. Davlin, state Commerce Secretary; Francis A. Pitkin, Director of the Bureau of Community Redevelopment; Daniel Rogers, chief of the Housing and Redevelopment Division of Community Development, and Rexford Glaspey, attorney for the state agency.

It was during the meeting that Davlin assured the city of a $350,000 allocation.

The Monessen project will cost an estimated $2,100,000. In addition to federal and state funds, the city plans to supply $350,000.

Most of the existing structures in the redevelopment area are sub-standard. They will be re-

Exchange Pupil Says American Students Don't Learn to Think

An Austrian girl who is completing a year as an exchange student in Monessen High School thinks education in America is much inferior to that in her own country.

Swinda Waldman made this observation in addressing the Monessen Rotary Club at its weekly luncheon at Johnson's yesterday.

"School work here is much easier than at home," she said. "Except for the language difficulty, I have not had to work very hard here."

Swinda, whose father is a teacher of English and German, said American pupils don't learn how to think.

"These true-and-false tests are just stupid," sht said. "You don't have to think — you just put down this or that, and that's all there is to it."

In Austria, high school students are required to do much more writing of compositions, by which they learn to organize their thoughts and express them.

Her school work in Monessen High will not count in Austria, Swinda said, and she will have to work extra hard to catch up with her classmates.

Swinda Waldman

Nevertheless, she said she has had a wonderful year here and would not have missed the opportunity.

She likes the informality between teachers and pupils in Monessen High.

"In Austria," she said, "the teacher just teaches the subject and that is all. And the principal — he is like a god."

At the close of school here in June, Swinda will take a four-week trip with a group of other exchange students and will sail for home in August.

In Monessen she has been making her home with Mr. and Mrs. Everett Vernaccini, of the Montraver Plan.

She has participated in many school activities, including leading cheers.

Swinda saw her first football game in Monessen and liked the sport immediately.

State Highway Probe Wanted

Democrats In Counter Resolution

HARRISBURG (UP)—The House of Representatives today prepared to advance a proposal for a legislative investigation of the state Highways Department on charges of "mismanagement."

House Republican leaders said they would attempt to clear the legislation in the chamber and send it to the Senate for concurrence. The bill would create a joint Highways Investigation Commission armed with full subpena powers and a $100,000 appropriation for a continuing study.

The Democratic minority bloc countered with a resolution calling on the Joint State Government Commission to conduct an inquiry into "what appears to be concerted effort on the part of some individuals, organizations, commentators and others to discredit by unsubstantiated charges the state Highways Department and its personnel."

The Democratic resolution listed four organizations it said made the charges against the department, adding that a Pittsburgh newspaper "appears to be spearheading this campaign."

The resolution cited "disgruntled former department employes, hoping to regain favor and prestige; discharged employees seeking to cover up their own shortcomings by falsely accusing others; self servicing officers and lobbyists of a business group interested in highway construction contracts and collusion between the three groups and the high command of the Republican party."

Petrosky Signs Bill

The resolution was sponsored by Democratic Minority Leader Albert S. Readinger (Berks), Anthony J. Petrosky (D-Westmoreland), Marion L. Munley (D-Lackawanna) and Joseph G. Wargo (D-Lackawanna).

The Republican - sponsored investigation would look into Gov. George M. Leader's $720-million budget request for expanded highways construction during the next two years, mainly under the federal interstate highway program. GOP leaders contend they must "carefully survey" the department before they can act on the budget request. The GOP also hopes to justify returning the six cent a gallon gasoline to five cents on June 1 by showing the extra cent is not needed for proposed highway construction.

Meanwhile, Arthur L. Wiesenberger, Allentown, former chief engineer and deputy highways secretary, said that while he had "disagreements" with his superiors in the state job "In my opinion, the progress and achievements made in the past two years out-distance any previous record."

Wiesenberger was named district engineer at Allentown in March, 1955. He was appointed chief engineer and deputy secretary in September of that year and resigned a year later.

Today in Congress—

Democrats, Republicans Fight Over Economic System Inquiry

WASHINGTON (UP) — House Democrats and Republicans plunged into a showdown fight today over conducting an investigation of the nation's economic system.

The Democrats want Congress to do it. The Republicans want the job done by an independent citizens commission as requested by President Eisenhower.

The Democrats this afternoon brought up for a vote a proposal to have a banking subcommittee conduct the inquiry. The subcommittee is headed by Rep. Wright Patman (D-Tex) — a leading foe of high interest.

Republicans said the proposed Democratic - sponsored inquiry could shake business confidence and possibly start a recession. They offered a compromise plan calling for a 16-man bipartisan commission appointed by the President and Congress.

The outcome of the fight was in doubt.

Other congressional news:

Budget: Southern Democrats in the House prepared to take another big cut from the administration's already-cut $2.8 billion appropriations bill for the Labor and Health, Education and Welfare Departments. They cut an extra $416 million from the Labor budget Tuesday.

Taxes: The Senate called an early session to push through a bill extending special corporation and excise taxes. The bill extends for 15 months the Korean war taxes scheduled to end April 1.

Airlines: The Senate Commerce Committee planned to review current negotiations between the State Department and The Netherlands over valuable airline rights. The Netherlands is seeking permission for Royal Dutch Airline to operate three new routes to the United States. Committee Chairman Warren G. Magnuson said the committee wanted to make sure the United States doesn't come out "on the short end of the stick."

Missiles: Chairman Richard B. Russell of the Armed Services Committee said he thinks a solution to U. S. development of a satisfactory intermediate ballistic missile is imminent. Russell made the statement after beng briefed by Secretary of Defense Charles E. Wilson and Adm. Arthur Radford, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff.

Nominations: The Senate confirmed nomination of John Allensen Perkins as undersecretary of health, education and welfare. It also confirmed nomination of Edward Foss Wilson as assistant HEW secretary.

RAISING THE LAST OBSTACLE—German salvage ships "Engergie" and "Ausdauer" (left), standing on both sides of the submerged frigate "Abukir," prepare to raise the wreck which is the last remaining obstacle blocking passage through the Suez Canal. After removal of the Abukir, the waterway will be cleared for ships of 30,000 tons. (United Press photo).

Tax Collector Admits Taking Some Payments

PITTSBURGH (UP)—Stephen C. Pastrick, former Harrison Twp. tax collector charged with embezzling $67,000, testified today he once accepted a payment from a taxpayer on the way home from church.

Pastrick, who earlier stated his chief clerk, Mrs. Betty Liotta, handled most of the chores of his office, said at her trial today he sometimes received tax payments in his insurance office and gave temporary receipts.

The former collector was recalled as a witness in the trial of Mrs. Liotta, 28, who was Pastrick's chief clerk in the township tax office. She is charged with being an accessory before and after in the alleged embezzlement of tax funds.

Defense attorney Robert Van der Vort questioned Pastrick about $2,550 found in the tax office safe. Unable to remember the incident at first, Pastrick recalled the money when Van der Vort produced a deposit slip showing the funds had been deposited by Pastrick in the Peoples National Bank at Tarentum on March 30, 1954.

Pastrick then testified he withdrew the money and deposited it in the township account at the First National Bank of Natrona on April 14, 1954, meanwhile "mildly rebuking" Mrs. Liotta for "carelessly leaving the money lying around the office."

Budget

programs which they themselves had voted.

Frequently raising his voice, the President said let some one older than he say it is not necessary to meet fixed obligations to veteran; let someone else say a healthy agriculture is not necessary; let some one else say that efforts to relieve the school room shortage are not necessary.

He took another example—the Post Office Department — which he said had put into effect about all of the economies possible without further reducing mail service. He said it would be up to Congress to decide whether the people of the United States should have a decreased postal service.

Summarizing, the President said that if Congress regards such programs as he enumerated today as non-essential, then the budget could be cut. But for himself he believed them to be essential and therefore could not hold out the prospect of any material reduction in the 1958 budget.

Beck

pillared hearing room in almost constant laughter.

"I don't know where you dug all this out," he said at one point. "Is it in the records?"

Advised that it was all in the records, Shefferman commented with an air of resignation, "Well, if it's there . . . it's there."

The committee furnished a list of items which it said Shefferman bought for Beck and his football-playing son with union funds. Some of the biggest items for Beck were:

Kaiser roofing sheet, $1,431.27; chairs, table, love seats, settee, etc., $1,242.45.; one renaissance rug, $991.19; gardening, $1,918.15.

Purchases listed for Dave Beck Jr. included a chestnut living room suite at $979.50, a $218.99 TV set, and a $250.90 deep freeze. Total purchases for the younger Beck were $4,592.37, according to the committee's list.

"Twenty-one pair nylons," Shefferman read early in the list. He said "well," added "uh", and cleared his throat.

"I happen to know that Mr. Beck is a moral man," he said earnestly, "and it's perfectly all right."

Shefferman interrupted his recital of items at one point to comment, "I understand that this money has been borrowed from union funds and has been returned." He said he had that information from "many, many sources."

But under questioning by Sen. Karl E. Mundt (R-SD), the bespectacled witness said he had heard that from television and newspapers — apparently as a result of Beck's statements on a TV panel show.

Amendment Protection

The burly union president claimed the protection of the Fifth Amendmtnt Tuesday when asked to confirm his TV statement that he had repaid "every cent" of $300,000 to $400,000 he had borrowed without interest from the union.

Beck, a few rows behind Shefferman in the packed hearing room's witness section, permitted a smile to wreathe his florid face from time to time as the Chicagoan droned through his unhappy recital.

Without waiting for conclusion of the investigation, the AFL-CIO high command moved swiftly to crack down on Beck for refusing to answer the committee's questions.

No sooner had Beck pleaded the Fifth Amendment Tuesday than AFL-CIO President George Meany summoned an extraordinary meeting of the 28-member Executive Council for Friday to consider the issue.

Members of the council willing to comment were generally critical of Beck's refusal to answer questions, but most reserved their formal opinions until the case is aired Friday. Several said, however, that Beck's stand appeared a clear violation of the AFL-CIO ban on use of the Fifth Amendment before congressional committees.

Russia's Threats Against Allies Blasted by Ike

WASHINGTON (UP)—President Eisenhower today branded as completely indefensible Russia's recent threats against Norway, Japan and other U.S. allies.

He told his news conference that all nations have the right to take whatever measures they believe to be necessary to protect themselves.

The President made the remark when asked what he thought of such recent Russian statements as Soviet Premier Nikolai Bulganin's warning to Norway that she would pay dearly if she allowed her territory to be used as a base against the Soviet Union.

He said he felt there were no grounds for the statements referred to and they were completely indefensible.

He added that the Russians had made similar threats when he took over as commander of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization in Europe. Norway is a member of NATO.

The President told newsmen on other foreign policy developments:

—The movement of Saudi Arabian troops to the shores of Gulf of Aqaba may not have any great bearing on Israeli shipping through the narrow waterway. The actual passage of ships through the Strait of Tiran is much closer to the Egyptian shore which is controlled by United Nations Forces.

Steel Railroad Talks Go Before Mediation Board

PITTSBURGH (UP)— Deadlocked contract negotiations between the United Steelworkers union and U.S. Steel's Union Railroad will go before the National Railway Mediation Board in Washington.

Both the union and company have agreed to meet in Washington Thursday in renewed efforts to conclude negotiations which affect 1,500 employes, according to John R. Sullivan, USW Dist. 15 director.

The railroad serves U.S. steel plants at Clairton, Homestead, Rankin, Braddock, West Mifflin, and Duquesne.

The railroad and union began negotiations on insurance and pension issues last September and have been discussing wages and other contract conditions since November.

Man Hurt When Struck by Car

Robert Males, 64, of R. D. 1, Monongahela, was reported in good condition at Charleroi-Monessen Hospital today where he is recovering from injuries sustained when struck by a car in Monessen last night.

According to police, Males was crossing the intersection at Third street and Donner avenue when struck by a car operated by Joe S. Caville, 501 Third street, Monessen. The mishap occurred at 7:15 p. m.

A hospital spokesman said Males suffered body bruises. He was undergoing x-ray examinations today.

Syrian Troops Open Fire on Settlement, Israel Claiming

By UNITED PRESS

Israel reported today that Syrian troops open fired on an Israeli settlement at midnight and that marauders from the Gaza Strip ambushed an Israeli truck Tuesday, seriously wounding one civilian.

Egypt's semi-official news agency reported in Cairo that Saudi Arabia had moved troops to the outskirts of the Jordanian Port of Aqaba, but a Jordanian military source denied the report in Amman.

However other sources said the Saudis had moved troops all along the western shore of the Gulf of Aqaba in what could be the start of a new Arab move to blockade Israeli shipping in the narrow waterway.

The Arab moves sharply increased tension in the Middle East as U.N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold ended his Cairo mission and left for New York without solving the future of the Suez Canal or the U.N. Emergency Force.

West Is Silent

The West was silent pending a formal report from Hammarskjold on his mission, but in Bermuda a highly informed source said "everybody accepts the fact that for better or worse Egyptians are going to operate the canal." The statement came after the Anglo-Canadian conference.

The semi-official Middle East News agency said in Cairo that Saudi troops had taken up positions just outside Jordan's port city of Aqaba in the first move by Saudi Arabia to close the gulf to Israeli shipping.

The Saudi troops are expected to move into Aqaba proper when British troops stationed there under a now defunct treaty with Jordan move out. That would place the Saudis only a few hundred yards from the Israeli port of Eilat at the north end of the gulf.

Other Saudi troops were reported stationed along the entire coast of the gulf as far as the islands of Tiran and Sinafar which control the entrance to the gulf at the Strait of Tiran.

Col. Nehemia Brosh, the Israeli army spokesman, announced the border incident with Syria. He said the Syrian troops fired for 20 minutes on the outskirts of the settlement of Dardara in north Israel. He said Israeli troops returned the fire. No casualties were reported.

The second incident occurred late Tuesday when marauders opened fire with rifles and machine guns on a truckload of Israelis 36 miles north of the port of Eilat on the road to Beersheba. The driver sped out of the trap and reached safety in the south.

Gasoline Tax Is Cut One Cent By Legislature

HARRISBURG (UP) — The Republican-controlled Legislature today relayed to Gov. George M. Leader legislation to drop Pennsylvania's six-cent tax on gasoline to five cents June 1.

The Senate after a four-hour debate Tuesday night, pushed through the two House-approved bills reenacting the five-cents "permanent" tax and turned down Democratic amendments to retain the other penny to help finance the administration's projected $720,000-million road building program in 1957-59.

The $300-million fuel tax bills were the last of a GOP tax program to finance the Commonwealth during the next two years. All eight of the bills, including the sales tax which Gov. Leader Tuesday asked the General Assembly to recall, were approved over Democratic objections.

Republican leaders in both chambers flatly rejected the governor's plea to recall the sales tax bill for further study. They charged that Leader's appearance before a joint session Tuesday was politically inspired and was the opening gun in his campaign to run for the U.S. Senate next year.

Passes Unanimously

After turning down on party line vote amendments offered by Sen. Joseph M. Barr (Allegheny), Democratic state chairman, which would have made the six-cent tax permanent, the Senate unanimously passed the bill as written in the House which eliminates after May 31 the one-cent emergency tax imposed in 1955 to pay for reconstruction of highways and bridges damaged by 1955 floods. The emergency tax was to have been effective until Sept. 12.

Sen. George N. Wade (R-Cumberland), chairman of the Senate Highways Committee, said the lawmakers were obliged to "live up to their promise to the voters" by dropping the emergency tax which was levied on a temporary basis.

Wade argued that Democrats, who opposed the Republican amendments to the sales tax on the grounds that they favor industry at the expense of the individual taxpayers, should be "glad" to relieve taxpayers of the extra one-cent on gasoline.

However, Minority Floor Leader John H. Dent (D-Westmoreland) contended that motorists would not benefit from the reduction.

"When you reduce the tax on gasoline there won't be a reduction in the price of gas at the pump anywhere in Pennsylvania," he said. "the gas companies won't let go of this penny."

Cites Possible Cutback

Dent also said that with the reduction in revenue in the Motor License Fund, appropriations to local municipalities for highway repair and maintenance would be cut back $8-million in the next fiscal period.

"We are faced with the greatest road building program this state has ever seen," Dent said. "Yet this Senate has made up its mind to cut highway funds to the lowest point since 1949. If local governments don't get road building money from the state, the only way they can get it is by raising realty taxes."

In the House, the Republican leadership was prepared today to get prompt concurrence in minor Senate amendments to the two remaining tax bills in the $995-million GOP General Fund tax package.

House Majority Leader Albert W. Johnson (R-McKean), cool to Leader's request for recall of the sales tax bill, said the governor will have the 1 per cent realty transfer tax and the 6 per cent corporate net income tax bills on his desk by next Monday "at the latest."

The House reconvenes today at 10 a.m. and the Senate one hour later.

Area Rotarians Attend District Dinner Meeting

Some 250 persons attended the dinner at Mt. View Hotel near Greensburg last night which broughh to a close a three-day conference of Rotary International's District 261.

Thomas Malpass, Jr., of Belle Vernon, presided as district governor of the area comprising 40 clubs in southwestern Pennsylvania. As one item of business the conference selected Harry S. Irwin of Uniontown to succeed Malpass next year.

Speaker at last night's dinner was Dr. Perry Epler Gresham, president of Bethany College, who urged on Rotarians an attitude of "individual responsibility under God". America is in danger of losing a precious heritage, said Dr. Gresham, because security and conformity are becoming more highly regarded than originality of thought and deed.

Monessen, Belle Vernon and Charleroi Rotary clubs, all affiliates of District 261, had delegations in attendance last night and at the earlier conference sessions.

Three Pittsburgh Area Men Killed In Plane Crash

ROANOKE, Va. (UP) — Three Pittsburgh area men were killed Tuesday when a single-engine Beechcraft plane crashed and burned on a runway of the Roanoke Airport.

The dead were John Raymond, 47, the pilot, and Edward Albert, 48, both of Pittsburgh, and Donald R. Scholter, 41, McKeesport, Pa.

The plane was en route from Columbia, S. C., to Pittsburgh on a return trip from Florida and Havana and was making a refueling stop here.

It crashed a short distance from a Piedmont Airlines plane waiting to take off. The crew of the airliner rushed to the crash site with extinguishers and pulled out the bodies of Albert and Scholter.

Raymond, a pilot for 15 years and the owner of the plane, operated an automobile repair shop. Scholter was in the refrigeration business and Albert operated a grocery.

Scholters brother, Kenneth, is president of the Scholter Aviation Company at Pittsburgh-Butler Airport.

State Constitution Needs Revision

GOVERNOR George M. Leader, in a special message to the State Assembly, makes a strong case for taking immediate steps to modernize Pennsylvania's constitution.

Mr. Leader asks the legislature to authorize him to appoint a Commission on Constitutional Revision composed of 15 members.

This group, the Governor explains, "would have the duty of determining whether or not changes in our constitution are advisable; and, if so, how best we might effect them".

"If the Commission concludes that we should proceed by amendment, it is empowered to recommend such a course . . .

"On the other hand, the Commission may conclude that our constitution needs a general revision. In this case, it would collect, compile and analyze such information as it may deem useful to the delegates at a constitutional convention, and shall make any recommendation as to the substance of the revision it may consider appropriate."

The Governor would have the Commission submit its report to the Assembly at the opening of the regular session in 1959.

* * *

THE NEED to revise the state's basic law has been apparent for over a generation. Several of Governor Leader's predecessors have urged the Assembly to take the necessary steps.

The late Gov. William C. Sproul succeeded in having the legislature authorize a study commission similar to the one proposed by Governor Leader. And this commission recommended that the calling of a constitutional convention be put to the voters. This was done, but the proposition was rejected.

So Pennsylvania has had to go limping along with a complicated, outmoded charter which was first put into effect in 1874. And as Governor Leader points out in his message, this antiquated constitution is preventing the state from meeting many serious problems which did not even exist in 1874.

It is not the age of the state constitution which is its most serious defect. The U. S. Constitution is much older and remains a perfectly sound and flexible legal substructure.

But there is a vast difference between the two charters. Whereas the federal Constitution is a brief, simple statement of basic principles and guaranties of individual liberty, the state constitution is a long, detailed document which attempts to deal specifically with matters of public policy.

The Governor cites a couple of examples: the state constitution requires that a bill must be read three times before it can be voted on in either house of the legislature. This is a practical impossibility, and the Assembly simply finds ways to evade the provision.

The constitution limits the state's indebtedness to $1 million, which is silly in the light of the state's growth. But in order to evade it, the state has created a complicated maze of semi-public authorities. And as the numbers and debts of these accumulate, so do the opportunities for mismanagement of public affairs.

* * *

THUS FAR the efforts to improve the constitution have resulted only in several amendments, the net effect of which has been to increase the complications. What is needed, we are firmly convinced, is a thorough revision and simplification. To postpone it further is to invite increasing disability of the state government to cope with the problems and meet the challenges of these times.

We hope the legislature will promptly approve the steps which Governor Leader has proposed.

Beck's Performance

THE PERFORMANCE which Dave Beck, president of the Teamsters Union, gave before the Senate investigating committee yesterday is enough in itself to disqualify him from any position of trust and authority in a responsible labor movement.

Whether or not Beck is guilty of criminal actions — and we make no comment on this point — the very fact that he cannot go before any public body and make a full and complete disclosure of his conduct as the president of the largest union in the nation puts his usefulness at an end, in our judgment.

Any citizen, of course, is entitled to the protection of the Fifth Amendment. And we do not question that Beck's lawyers have given him good advice.

But in taking the Fifth Amendment in these circumstances, Beck — or any other labor leader — makes it impossible for either the members of his organization or the public to have any further confidence in him.

Behind The News—

Britain, U. S. Friends, but Independent

By CHARLES M. McCANN

The Bermuda conference undoubtedly has strengthened the alliance between the United States and Great Britain.

President Eisenhower and Prime Minister Harold Macmillan met as old friends. Reports of the conference reflected an atmosphere of cordiality. The two leaders announced agreement on a number of big issues.

Mr. McCann

But it is likely that Britain under Macmillan's leadership will show a considerable degree of independence in its relations with the United States.

The breach in the alliance which resulted from the British-French invasion of the Suez Canal Zone was a serious one.

Breach Influenced Eden

It certainly had a great deal to do with the resignation of Sir Anthony Eden. Eden pleaded ill health when he stepped down. He really is in bad health. But his condition was aggravated by strain.

Eden's resignation, and Macmillan's succession to the prime ministry, constituted an important turning point in British politics.

Eden had succeeded Sir Winston Churchill after having been his political heir for many years. He carried on where Churchill left off.

But Macmillan's succession to the prime ministry last Jan. 10 marked a distinct break in the continuity of British policy toward the United States.

Resentment is still strong in Britain over the attitude President Eisenhower and Secretary of State John Foster Dulles took toward the Suez invasion.

Aimed At Ike, Dulles

There seems to be feeling among many Britons that the President and Dulles went out of their way to humiliate Eden, aside from the fact that they made no attempt to conceal their anger over the British-French action.

Britons seem to feel also that for a long time their country had acted as a sort of junior partner in the Anglo-American alliance.

The immediate effect of the Suez dispute was to take Britain closer to France. Another was to weaken the reluctance of Britain to tie its economy more closely to continental Europe.

It will be necessary for Macmillan to make sure that nothing he does can be criticized, either inside his own Conservative Party or outside of it, as permitting Britain to be a tail dragged along by an American political kite.

Mideast Divergence Remains

The Bermuda communique issued after the Eisenhower-Macmillan talks spoke of agreements on Middle Eastern policy. But there remains wide divergence on some aspects of it.

Britain still feels that the right course in the Suez dispute is to get tough with President Gamal Abdel Nasser of Egypt. It would be surprising if Macmillan did not feel that the United States let Britain down on that issue.

It is unlikely that President Eisenhower approves of Macmillan's determination to reduce the strength of British forces assigned to the North Atlantic Treaty Organization as an economy measure.

Events in the next few months probably will show that though the Anglo-American alliance has been strengthened it has not been restored fully.

Wilson Wins New Booster

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — The other day I went down to the Pentagon with fire shooting from the Pearson eye to have it out publicly with Secretary of Defense Charlie Wilson. He had confiscated my "Nickerson Document" on guided missiles after I did him the courtesy of submitting it to the Defense Department for security guidance, and I was determined to show him a few facts about cooperating with newspapermen when they try to cooperate with him.

Mr. Pearson

I came out of the verbal shooting fray with Charlie Wilson a different and defeated man. He took me like Eisenhower took the American people on Nov. 6. He did it with charm and frankness.

He not only took me, but I became something of a Wilson booster. He handles his press conference with more frankness and obvious desire-to-tell-the-truth than any other member of the Eisenhower administration. He also knew more about the vast ramifications of his intricate Defense Department than is humanly possible for most men.

However, this is getting ahead of the story.

I figured I would take Charlie Wilson by surprise by easing up on his vulnerable side — General Motors. After the press conference got underway I quoted an excerpt from the secret memo for which Col. John Nickerson of the Army's Redstone guided missile arsenal is going to be court martialed. This is the document which came into my possession — not from Col. Nickerson — and which the Defense Department confiscated when I asked whether publication of some parts might be detrimental to the national defense.

Col. Nickerson had claimed that Wilson's plan to take guided missiles away from the Army and concentrate development in the Air Force, "favored commercially the AC Sparkplug Division of General Motors."

Charlie Keeps Poise

So I asked Secretary Wilson: "I should like some guidance as to what should or should not be classified. Would you say that the statement that your guided missile program 'favors commercially the AC Sparkplug Division of General Motors' — should that or should that not be classified?"

"Well, it is of course a misstatement," said Wilson, referring to alleged favoritism for his old company, "but there is no reason why it should be classified unless it was hung on to a part of a document that in itself was classified."

"Then why did you not return that document to me with such portions X'd out that should have been classified?" I asked.

Secretary Wilson was at some disadvantage. He was sitting with a lot of TV lights shining in his face, and couldn't see me.

"Are you the man who had the document in the first place?" he asked.

"I am."

"Didn't we release some official correspondence we had with Mr. Pearson about it?"

"You did. The correspondence was not very edifying."

"Well I think that letter is as far as I care to go at this time," observed Mr. Wilson, keeping both his poise and his smile. "It's what our attorneys said should be the right decision to take, as long as the matter is in the court marial stage."

"One of your counsel, Mansfield Sprague, stated to my office the contrary," I pointed out. "He thought the document should be turned back with certain portions X'd out, to which I was quite agreeable."

"We appreciated your bringing it to us in the first place," Secretary Wilson said. "And obviously to you it had certain things in it that you thought should have been classified, or you wouldn't have brought it to us.

"Sleep Well"

"And we like that kind of cooperation," he continued. "I think the reason we changed our minds as between Mr. Sprague and Mr. Dechert (who succeeded Sprague as counsel) is that in the intermediate time we found out more about it. We found out who had produced it. As long as we didn't know where it came from and who sponsored it, and that you were the only person that had it and nothing else happened, you would have got it back with the classified parts deleted. But under the circumstance we thought 'Well, that's not the right thing to do.' I don't know whether I make myself clear, but I have tried to."

"You make yourself very clear, and I appreciate that explanation," I said, all the chips having slipped quietly off my shoulder. "It's just a little bit difficult for a newspaperman who has been in the habit of trying to check things that might be classified, and who is worried about it — it's a little difficult to continue that custom, which I think is a good custom."

At this point Secretary Wilson took the wind completely out of my sails.

"You'll sleep well with yourself as long as you do the right thing," he said.

I had a couple of other pungent, political quotes from the Nickerson secret document up my sleeve, but after that I folded. You can't go on arguing with anyone as nice as Charlie Wilson.

NOTE — Col. Nickerson, who has a fine record as an Army officer, is being tried for writing a memo opposing the transfer of guided missile development from the Army to the Air Force. These memos were then circulated to members of Congress. Nickerson's name was not on the memo which came into the possession of my office and I had no idea he was the author. It contained some data which obviously should have been classified, which was why the Defense Department was asked for guidance.

NEW DELHI: Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru, on the concept of the big powers trying to fill any "political vacuum" in the Middle East:

"Such an approach is dangerous and unreal."

PORTLAND, Ore.: Harry Federspiel, a member of Local 162 of the International Brotherhood of Teamsters and a leader of a petition urging removal from office of any Teamster official found guilty of racketeering or misuse of union funds:

"We are going to throw out Beck, Hoffa, Brewster, Crosby and Malloy. And if our delegates (to next year's convention) betray us, we'll kick them out, and I mean out in the street."

WASHINGTON: Robert C. Hill, assistant secretary of state, in urging Congress to grant statehood to Hawaii and Alaska:

"Statehood for Alaska and Hawaii would seem to constitute a clear example of self-government referred to in the charter of the United Nations, and as such, should be viewed in a favorable light by the great majority of U.N. members."

PHILADELPHIA: Sen. Harry F. Byrd (D-Va), urging President Eisenhower to adopt Hoover Commission recommendations aimed at "tax savings":

"I believe that taxes are so burdensome that if continued at present and proposed levels they will take the money this nation's economy needs for growth; they will cause a downturn in business and personal incomes; they will unleash a tremendous inflationary force."

WASHINGTON: Sen. John J. Williams (Del), after writing to the Interstate Commerce Commission complaining about a Delaware farmer who was told he would have to submit 66 copies of his letter if he wanted his objections to a railroad increase to be heard:

"I hope they will not send me 66 copies of their reply."

Although Afghanistan has some 12 million people, the country has no railroads.

Labor Is Getting Its First Serious Probe

By RAYMOND LAHR

WASHINGTON (UP)—Spectacular Senate investigations seem to come along every two or three years.

Teapot Dome . . . the midget in J.P. Morgan's lap . . . the munitions-makers . . . call up memories of the 1920s and 1930s. More recent spectaculars have involved "five-per centers" in the Truman administration, the firing of Gen. Douglas MacArthur, the Army-McCarthy brawl and the big time hoodlums who paraded before the televised Kefauver Crime Committee hearings.

Mr. Lahr

Imposing Title

The 1957 edition of the big Senate investigation is being conducted by a specially-created group bearing the imposing title, "Select Committee on Improper Activities in the Labor and Management Fields." The committee is particularly interested in racketeering by labor unions and, at this time, in evidence of improper activity by the huge Teamsters' Union and its hefty president, Dave Beck.

These investigations regularly produce arguments about the limits of congressional investigations and whether committees abuse their powers.

Beck invoked the Fifth Amendment and other constitutional provisions Tuesday in refusing to answer questions. He said, in effect, that he would prefer to take his chances in the courts where he felt his rights were better protected.

In dealing with cases involving contempt of congressional committees, the courts historically have taken a broad view of the investigating powers of Congress. These powers are only implied in the Constitution, although they have been in use since 1798.

A Legislative Purpose

The courts generally have presumed there is a legislative purpose in any congressional investigation — that is, an intent to collect information necessary to lawmaking. The racketeering inquiry is directly concerned with whether there is need for tightening Taft-Hartley Law provisions requiring unions to file financial reports with the Labor Department.

It also has been suggested that legislation might be in order to insure democratic procedures in labor unions. The committee is further interested in determining whether there have been violations of income tax and other existing laws, and whether racketeering has interfered with interstate commerce and inflated the cost of goods bought by the government.

The current inquiry adds up to what is probably the roughest treatment ever given a major segment of the labor movement by congressional investigators. And unlike previous labor sparring with Congress, this one has been blessed — at least in part — by some of the top leaders of organized labor.

The Woman's View—

Life of Ballplayer's Wife Is Complicated

By MRS. PEE WEE REESE

VERO BEACH, Fla. (UP)—Being a major league baseball player's wife has its moments of glamour. But there are hardships, too, which many people do not realize.

Spring training, for instance, presents many problems. Our friends back in Louisville (the Reeses' home town) envy PeeWee and me when we head for spring training in Florida.

They don't know that from the day training starts, I begin the life of a "baseball widow."

PeeWee has to get out every morning for training, and then when he's finished in the middle of the afternoon, he likes a little relaxation. So he plays golf with some of the boys and I don't see him until dinner time.

Expensive Living

It's often difficult locating a place to stay in spring training. We go to a resort town in the middle of the season and rentals run high. Some of the younger players cannot even afford to bring their wives south with them, it's that expensive.

When the team begins to head north, I lose my husband for several weeks. When the team gets back to Brooklyn, there is always the job of locating an apartment or a house. Sometimes it takes weeks and a player's wife has to remain at home until a suitable place is located.

We've been fortunate to rent the same apartment for several years but we're among the lucky ones.

Once the season starts, you live a hectic schedule.

It wasn't so bad in the days when they played only one or two night games a week. But now they play four or five nights a week and you find yourself eating at odd hours.

Unusual Eating Hours

If the Dodgers are playing a night game, PeeWee will have dinner before reporting to the park about four o'clock. Then when he comes home around midnight, he is naturally hungry and I have to prepare a light meal for him. Because we retire long after midnight, our breakfast hour usually is at a time when a lot of other people are having lunch.

The schedule might not be too bad, without children. But you can't expect children to eat at those hours. This year we have a new baby, our first son, and his feeding schedule keeps me busy all day long.

I think the worst part of being a ball player's wife is the traveling. The club makes four western trips a year, each for two weeks. Then there are short trips to Philadelphia and Pittsburgh. As a result, my husband is away from home an average of four months a year.

Has Brighter Side

I guess I've mentioned only the dark side of this life. It has its brighter moments too.

Like when PeeWee has a good day, or when the club wins the pennant or the World Series. There are memories we can never forget.

Baseball has been good to us Reeses. PeeWee has had a successful career and he's been with a winning club most of the time.

We've also traveled to places we might never have seen otherwise. But anyone who thinks it is all glamorous has never had to live the life.

The Lighter Side—

School for Executives

By DOC QUIGG

NEW YORK (UP)— The boss is going back to school.

One of his campuses—a place where an average of 400 bosses a week for 10 months of the year go in for intensive retraining in executive problems and methods—is smackdab overlooking Times Square.

However, the American Management Assn. (AMA), which runs the business-executive schooling operation at the top of the Sheraton-Astor Hotel, reports that the old boys buckle right down to work, for the most part, and shun the bright lights and naughty niteries.

The AMA now occupies a third of the hotel. Six months ago, it started using the famous old Astor Roof — reconverted, of course—as its Times Square campus. On the site of the bandstand, where Rudy Vallee used to croon and Harry James heave hot into a horn, is a 120-seat auditorium for the general management course.

Grows 60 Per Cent

There are 30 soundproofed, custom-tailored meeting rooms for seminars, clinics, and other meetings — all walnut-paneled, air-conditioned, fluorescent-lighted, projection-screened.

Indicative of the national trend toward executive training is the fact that the AMA grew 60 per cent in number of activities during the last fiscal year, over the previous year.

What is the national picture on executives going back to school? AMA President Lawrence A. Appley estimates that this year a quarter-million executives are going back to some sort of training. About 150,000 of these will go to internal company schooling programs. Another 100,000 will attend activities by outside institutions, such as those offered by the AMA.

Faced with growing complexity in their jobs, the executives swap managerial know-how and study basic techniques and approaches. The AMA uses 3,000 executives a year as its "faculty" — a policy of management teaching management. Through 800 conferences, courses, and other meetings in eight cities this year, it expects to school 45,000 executives. If you want to count in the annual packing exposition, a sort of trade fare, the AMA total would reach 75,000.

St. Paul Missionary Group Convenes

Plans for greater participation in a missionary program to be promoted by the women of the Protestant Churches of Monessen were discussed last night when members of the Faith Lippard Missionary Society of St. Paul Lutheran Church met in the church.

The possibility of organizing a Council of Protestant Church Women was started following the observance of the World Day of Prayer at the United Presbyterian Church here on March 8, when the women decided that if a local council could be formed a more active part could be taken in the World Day of Prayer and other activities promoted by the Women's World Council of Churches. Mrs. Robert Swaney, of the First Methodist Church, is promoting the proposed organization and the other Protestant Church women's groups are also at work on this plan.

Devotional Program

Mrs. John Stieska, president, was in charge of the meeting and the devotional period was conducted by Miss Esther Johnson. Her topic was "The World Speaks", which dealt with the power and necessity of prayer in all parts of the world.

Mrs. Paul Trout assisted in the devotional program by showing a film strip on "The World Day of Prayer", which depicted the services in all parts of the world as the women join in the annual chain of prayer. Miss Johnson narrated for the film.

Announcement was made during the business session of the annual Spring Conference of United Lutheran Women of the Pittsburgh Synod, Greensburg Conference, which will be held at Christ Lutheran Church of Charleroi on May 2. The local church will be well represented and it is anticipated that approximately 400 or 500 women will be present.

Plan College Club

The Valley Missionary Cooperative Study Classes were reported as successful and Mrs. Frank Maykovich, of the local church, was chairman. At the last session held at the Lynnwood Lutheran Church, the women discussed the possibility of forming a chapter of the Thiel College Women's Club in the valley. The group will either be active holding sessions four times annually or inactive and just support the projects of the club. The Faith Lippard women will cooperate in either plan if carried out.

Two fund raising projects are underway, the continued sale of ribbon and a "traveling basket". The basket will be circulated among Guild members for the purpose of earning money for the Church Building Fund.

A social hour followed the meeting and luncheon was served by the hostesses, Mrs. Elizabeth Behanna and Mrs. Helen Pokomo.

ON THE BALL

By ALLEN KLINE

MHS Baseballers Good Singers

Monessen High may not have the best baseball team in Section 17 this season, but the school should have the best "singing" baseball team. It seems almost half of Coach John Hayduk's hopefuls have been excused from early drills to participate with the MHS glee club . . . West Virginia University has lined up two new football foes for 1958 — Oklahoma and Indiana. How's that for toughening the schedule in a hurry? . . . The Brownsville Peppers — a junior class team in the current Ozark Basketball Tournament — has veteran Brownsville sportswriter Bob Petriello as its sponsor . . . Julius Gihirny, a young basketball official from Rostraver, has turned in some fine jobs in the Ozark show.

* * *

Monessen High volleyball coach John (Corky) DeMillion — an easy-going fellow — isn't saying anything for publication, but he's reportedly telling friends that his boys were shortchanged in the recent WPIAL Volleyball Tournament. DeMillion feels that the champion Homestead Steelers were "carrying" the ball in direct violation to volleyball rules . . . Spring has just arrived, but district golf courses already report banner turnouts . . . Nearby Nemacolin has hiked caddie fees from $1.50 to $2 per round . . . Speaking of Nemacolin, no less than 50 applications for memberships were received shortly after plans for a swimming pool were announced.

Ex Rostraver Star Seeking Office

One of Rostraver's High's all-time great football players — Tom Vitale — has thrown his hat into the political arena. He'll run as an "independent" for the Democratic nomination in the school-director race in the township. Vitale, a graduate of Pitt, was a tremendous fullback during Rostraver's football hey-day in the late thirties . . . Farrell school directors have turned over $287 to Little League baseball. The money represents rental of the Farrell High gym for the recent Harlem Globetrotter-House of David game . . . Chester High, despite an early season loss to Farrell, looks like the "hot" team in the current PIAA playoffs. The Clippers meet Reading tonight while Sharon takes on Pittsburgh Oliver in semi-final games.

* * *

Although Uniontown High has nixed an offer to appear in the holiday basketball tournament in Farrell, rumor has it that Washington will okay a similar bid. So will Hickory of the Mercer County League . . . The best-dressed senior division teams in the current Ozarks Basketball Tournament was the first club to be eliminated — Monessen Big Five . . . Speaking of the Ozark Tournament, Charleroi's Ollie Payne scored a mere eleven points in a junior class game the other night, then came back a little later to make 25 in a senior tussle. It seems Payne plays up to the opposition.

Fedarko Back at Cage Officiating

John (Purdy) Fedarko, who sat out the entire basketball season because of illness, is back in action. He has officiated several games in the current Ozark Basketball Tournament . . . Two Greensburg products led St. Vincent in basketball scoring the past season. Harry Folk, 6-3 sophomore, had a 19.1 average over the entire campaign, while junior Jack Kalbfus, who played the latter half of the season, concluded with a 21.4 average . . . By the way, Folk played all but 19 minutes of the Bearcats 21 games the past season. That makes him a real iron-man.

Fraley Announces His Own 'Oscar' Winners

By OSCAR FRALEY

NEW YORK (UP)—All the ham ain't in Hollywood so we'll beat the Motion Picture Academy to the punch today with Fearless Fraley's sporting "Oscars."

There are more categories than Kansas City pitchers in a doubleheader so, without further fritttering, let's get with it. To whit:

Best actor: Don Larsen in "From Rags to Pitches."

Best actress: Olga Fikotova in "I'll take the hammer thrower and you can have the sickle."

Best picture: "Go west, young man," featuring the Canarsie Codgers.

Best supporting actor: Yogi Berra in "Whatsamatter, Ya Losin' Yer Control?"

Best supporting actress: Hilda Chester in "From Here to Infirmary."

Best Direction: West.

Best story and screen play: North Carolina's NCAA champs in "How to Wilt the Stilt."

Best documentary feature: U.S. Supreme Court sports findings, whereas, ipso facto, habeas corpus, dog my cats and baseball is still a "sport."

Best costume design: The cool, calm preliminary fighter who forgot his trunks.

Best set direction: Gussie Moran.

Best score of a musical picture: Cincinnati 19, St. Louis 15 in "The Outfield Fence That Made Like A Xylophone."

The only thing left to add is that none of these winners ever have received an "Oscar" before, for which all of them have been proud and happy.

Okay, Hollywood—take it away!

Monessen Loses In PNA Bowling

Bentleyville blanked Charleroi and Arnold City took a pair from Monessen in Mon Valley PNA Bowling League action last weekend.

Standings show Bentleyville, 26-10; Arnold City, 18-18; Monessen, 18-18; and Charleroi, 10-26.

Paulettes and Babettes Win

Paulettes won two games from the Bendettes and Babettes took a pair from the Gerrettes in Croatian Ladies League bowling last night.

Semi-Finals in Ozark Show Tonight

Five Games Plus Beauty Contest On Tap at Gym

The field in the current Ozark Basketball Tournament will be trimmed to two teams in each division during tonight's busy action at the Monessen High gym.

In the Junior Class, two semi-finals matches are scheduled, while the senior division will feature three games which will erase all but two entries under the double-elimination system.

The Brownsville Peppers will meet the defending champion Monessen Tracys at 6 while the Monessen Links will tackle the West Virginia Mounties at 9 in junior tussles.

The senior clashes will match the Monessen Ozarks against New Brighton at 7; Washington Intervals against Donora Last Chance at 8 and the Washington-Donora losers against the Monessen-New Brighton winner at 10.

Unbeaten Teams

The big game, of course, will bring together Washington and Donora, the only teams remaining in the senior division with unbeaten records.

Washington is paced by Pitt's scoring twins, Bob Lazor and John Riser, while Donora is loaded with college stars including Al Frank, the great Carnegie Tech scorer.

New Brighton is favored to handle the Monessen Ozarks in their game, thus moving to a match with the Washington-Donora loser. Whoever bows in that latter game, figures to rate the nod against New Brighton.

In other words, it looks like Washington and Donora will meet again before the tournament is over.

The junior class semi-finals both look like toss-ups.

Hands Full

The defending champion Tracys will have their hands full with Brownsville.

The Tracys have Charleroi High stars Myron Pottios, Carl Witmyer, Bob Boda and Jim Chacko as well as Dan Testy. Also on the roster are Monessen prodicts, Frank Crisi, Maurice Mathieu and John Bogovich. Bellmar's former ace, Ron Gray, completes the squad.

Even that imposing array figures to have trouble with the Brownsville quint, comprised of stars from Brownsville, Redstone and California.

In the other junior tussle, the Monessen Links and West Virginia Mounties both have lots of credentials.

The Links are loaded with players like Ollie Payne, of Charleroi; Carl Crawley and Ron Minnie of Monessen; Wilbur Stewart of Snowden, Beanie Gorden of Washington, and Dave Russell of Donora.

But the Mounties, who have been playing together all season as a unit, showed lots of skill as they erased the Monessen High undergrad team on Monday.

As an added feature at the tourney tonight, the seven pretty young ladies competing for the title of tournament queen will make their first appearance at 8 p. m.

They are Beverly Robinson, of California; Dolly Siechitano, Bentleyville; Carol Jydak, Monessen; Pat Minyon, Rostraver; Delia Diaz, Donora; Cherie Nogy, Belle Vernon and Linda Rogers, Charleroi.

Here are the referee assignments for tonight's Ozark Tournament games:

6 — Fran Krawczyk and John Novakovich; 7 — Jim Leeper and Joe Leone; 8 — Buzzy Stevenson and Steve Tkachik; 9 — Leeper and Leone; 10 — Stevenson and Tkachik.

School Nines Open Thursday

Most Valley TeamsHave Exhibitions

The exhibition baseball season will open tomorrow for most valley schools.

That is, providing the weather man cooperates. Ordinarily, he doesn't.

At any rate, Monessen High's rebuilt baseballers are slated to meet McKeesport at Ninth Street Park beginning at 4 p. m.

Bellmar will open against West Newton at the Fayette City diamond.

Donora and Monongahela also have exhibition assignments tomorrow. The Dragons will go to Elizabeth while Monongahela will travel to Clairton.

Delay Start

Charleroi, the defending valley champion, will delay its exhibition start until next Monday. However the Cougars have no less than four games slated before the start of the regular league campaign on April 8.

In succession, the Cougars are slated to meet Clairton, Washington, Beth Joint and Clairton next week.

California, the other Section 17 team, has released no exhibition card as yet.

Most observers predict an exciting race in the valley this season even though the champion Charleroi nine returns almost to a man.

Monongahela Tough

Monongahela, bolstered by the Little League champions of some years back, figures to be tough if pitcher Ed Kikla regains his old form. And California appears to have a real sleeper.

Donora, too, looks good, with pitcher Dave Russell ready to cut loose. Bellmar must uncover a new outfield and catcher, but the team should be most respectable.

Only Monessen seems to be in the also-ran class. And the Hounds at least have the best slugger in the circuit, Carl Crawley.

Savoie Loses Another Decision

HOUSTON, Tex. (UP)—Former Canadian lightweight champion Armand Savoie lost his second decision in two weeks Tuesday night, this time to virtually unknown Davie Walden of Youngstown, Ohio.

Savoie lost a split decision to world champion Joe Brown two weeks ago, but took a worse beating from 21-year-old Walden. Walden decked him at the close of the fifth and had the Canadian groggy in the sixth and eighth on his way to winning a unanimous 10-rounder.

Savoie weighed in at 135, Walden, 133. It was Walden's 13th victory against four losses and four draws. Savoie now holds a 78-28 record.

Two Sweeps in Electric League

Volts blanked the Amps and Ohms whitewashed the Watts in Blooming Mill Electric Bowling League action last night.

Scoring leaders were Jim Peters 172-458; Bob McKeever, 175-449; Steve Swansik, 160-436; Cy Brown, 154-424; Pete Urick, 194-418; and Nick Tonini, 157-405.

Standings show Volts, 24-12; Ohms, 12-15; Amps, 17-19; Watts, 10-26.

Wisconsin End Signs with Packers

GREEN BAY, Wis., (UP)—Jim Temp, 230-pound end from the University of Wisconsin who will be discharged from the Army in September, has signed to play ofr the Green Bay Packers of the National Football League this fall. Temp played two games with the Packers in 1955 before entering military service.

Bellmar Relies on Veteran Infield

Coach Bap Manzini's Bellmar baseballers will open their exhibition season tomorrow against West Newton at the Fayette City diamond.

And even the usually-pessimistic Manzini concedes that his Canes should be pretty fair.

Of course Manzini is quick to point out that all other valley teams, with the possible exception of Monessen, are coming up with exceptionally talented clubs.

That means Bellmar iwll have to be good to wind up with nothing more than a respectable record.

Most of the Bellmar hopes will hinge on a veteran infielder and a four-year pitching veteran.

Mollard Back

The mound ace is Fred Mollard, a heady hurler with lots of know how. The staff also includes Conrad Lupori and Bob Beggs, both of whom saw pitching duty last season.

The infield is set with the exception of third base. Don Miller, counted upon to hold down the hot corner, quit school recently to enter military service.

Returning are first baseman Steve Raymond, second baseman Rudy Houseman and shortstop Bill Gardner. Larry Rankin and Danny Miller are after the vacant third base position.

Tom O'Toole, just a sophomore, will probably take over where his brother Jack left off behind the plate.

In the outfield, the only experienced performer back is sophomore Larry Petras. Also around are Bill Sowden and Bucky Catrino, while both Mollard and Lupori are capable flychasers when not on the mound.

25 Boys Report

About 25 boys have been reporting for Bellmar diamond drills and they have shown good spirit.

Manzini has enjoyed unusual baseball success at Bellmar despite limited material. The betting is that he'll have his Canes respectable again this season even though Section 17 promises to be one of the toughest leagues in the entire WPIAL.

The Canes also have home-and-away exhibitions scheduled with South Huntingdon on April 1 and April 4.

Need Caddies at Country Club

The "help wanted" sign went up today at the caddy stand of the Monongahela Country Club.

Frank Bruno, club pro, said that many more caddies are needed for the spring and summer months.

"Boys in the Monessen district who are interested in becoming gulf caddies should see me at the Pro Office as soon as possible," said Bruno.

Close Scores in Slovak Bowling

Ladies Auxiliary won two games from Christian Mothers and Holy Name took a pair from Slovak Home in Slovak Ladies League bowling last night.

Scoring leaders were Helen Kilvady, 169-371; Irene Kandrick, 111-319; Margaret Yanachik, 113-296; Mary Hardon, 129-294; and Marie Timcoe, 114-294.

Standings show Holy Name, 28-8; Slovak Home, 20-16; Christian Mothers, 13-23; and Ladies Auxiliary, 11-25.

Minister Named Wake Forest Coach

WINSTON-SALEM, N.C. (UP)—The Rev. Horace (Bones) McKinney, who stepped from professional basketball to the ministry and the assistant basketball coaching spot at Wake Forest College, will take over July 1 as head coach.

McKinney, also assistant chaplain of the Baptist college, will succeed veteran Coach Murray Greason who will move up to the position of assistant athletic director in charge of recruiting and public relations.

The new appointments were announced by Athletic Director Bill Gibson at a press conference here Tuesday.

Tourney Player Captures Award

Al Frank, Carnegie Tech's record-breaking scorer who is currently appearing in the Ozark Basketball Tournament with the Donora Last Chance quint, has won the coveted Al Cerrito award.

The honor goes each year to the outstanding members of the Tech basketball team. Members of the squad ballot to decide the winner.

Rookie May Win Starting Spot With Yankees

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (UP)—Tony Kubek, who graduated from the Yankees' rookie school summa cum laude, inherited not only a treasured baseball diploma today but also quite possibly the world champions' regular left field job.

So says Professor Casey Stengel, at any rate.

"If I had to name my opening day left fielder right now, I'd have to say Kubek," Stengel declared. "He can hit, he can run, he can field and he can throw.

"Of course, I've got some other fellas who might force me to change my mind between now and the opening game, but this kid looks mighty good to me."

Kubek, a native of Milwaukee who stands 6-3 and weighs 188, played shortstop at Denver last season, batting .331. Only 21 years old, Old Case liked the looks of the youngster the first time he saw him, and being endowed with plenty of shortstops, put the kid in centerfield.

Like DiMaggio

"He looked like he had played it all his life," Stengel explained. "There's something about the way he goes after and catches a fly ball that reminds you of Joe DiMaggio. Of course, he has some things to learn, but I wouldn't hesitate to start him tomorrow if the season opened that soon."

Despite the fact that he hit only six home runs at Denver—where, according to Casey, "homers are kinda cheap because of the wind and dry air" — the Yankee pilot believes Kubek has enough power.

"But he ain't got the job cinched," Stengel went on to explain. "There's fellas like (Enos) Slaughter, (Elston) Howard, (Norm) Siebern and (Bob) Martyn who might have something to say about that. But this much I know, with those five fellas I ain't worried about a left fielder.

Shannock Moves To 'B' Finals

Wallops Mercer in Semi-Final Test; Sharon Meets Oliver High Tonight

By UNITED PRESS

Defending champion Fountain Hill will face Shannock Valley in the state PIAA Class B basketball championship game Friday at New Wilmington.

Fountain Hill ran away from Ashley in the final period of the eastern regional final at Hazleton Tuesday night to win by a convincing 91-64 score.

Unbeaten Shannock Valley, earning its first chance for a state Class B. crown, also pulled away late in its western regional final with Mercer at Farrell to win, 72-56.

Big Fourth Period

Ashley shot the works in a third period rally which cut Fountain Hill's halftime lead from 41-30 to 58-54 and had little left to hold off the late rush of the taller District 11 champions. Fountain Hill outscored Ashley, the District 2 representative, 33-10, in the final period.

Harold Strelecki paced Fountain Hill, which won the state B title last year. with 31 points. John Cavanaugh was high for Ashley with 26.

The victory was Fountain Hill's 27th in 30 games. Ashley's loss was its sixth against 26 victories.

Mercer of District 10 was behind by five points, 52-47, with 4½ minutes remaining. But three consecutive field goals by Shannock, the District 7 (WPIAL) representative, put Mercer out of contention.

Haky Gets 23

All Shannock starters hit in the double figures, with Leo Haky taking game-scoring honors with 23 points. Jim Anthony with 16 and Dave Crawshaw with 15 paced Mercer. Shannock led, 17-11, after the first period, 34-27 at halftime and 50-39 after three periods. It was Shannock's 26th straight victory.

Tonight the Class A regional finals will be played. Chester and Reading meet at Hershey in the eastern final and Oliver, of Pittsburgh, takes on Sharon in the western final at the Pitt Field House in Pittsburgh.

Unbeaten Sharon of District 7, with 26 straight wins, dethroned Farrell, the 1956 WPIAL and PIAA state champion, in season play.

Boardman Moves Up in Latest Ring Ratings

NEW YORK (UP) — Welterweight Isaac Logart and lightweight Larry Boardman, two eager-beaver contenders, were advanced today to the number three berths of their respective divisions in The Ring magazine's latest ratings.

Logart of Cuba replaced exchampion Johnny Saxton in third place among the welters because of Saxton's second-round kayo by champion Carmen Basilio, and because of Logart's consistently good showings against strong opposition.

Boardman of Marlboro, Conn., replared Johnny Gonsalves of Oakland, Calif., at third notch among the 135-pounders because of Gonsalves' recent defeat by Rosi, incidentally, crashed into the rankings at number eight, two notches above the skidding Gonsalves.

Only Changes

Those were the only changes among the top three in any of the eight divisions. However, heavyweight Willie Pastrano of New Orleans replaced Archie Moore at number four, and Archie dropped to fifth because of inactivity. Although Moore is light-heavyweight champion, he still is rated among the heavies because of his campaign for the bigger title last year.

Miguel Berrios of Puerto Rico won "fighter-of-the-month" honors for his victory last week over Carmelo Costa of Brooklyn in the first elimination of the featherweight title tourney.

Drops from List

Ingemar Johansson of Sweden, European heavyweight champion, was dropped from the top 10 because of inactivity and to make room for Harold Johnson of Philadelphia, who is surprisingly ranked sixth.

Little Walter Byars of Boston entered the welterweight rankings at No. 10 on his upset victory over Sugar Hart.

Bragan Happy After Buc Win

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (UP) —Pittsburgh Pirate Manager Bobby Bragan, his players relaxing with a free day following a brilliant 4-0 victory over St. Louis, had two things to smile about today.

Bragan apparently found his fourth starting pitcher in righthander Dick Hall and was assured his relief corps headed by Nelson King and Elroy Face would be adequate.

Hall pitched four innings against the Cardinals Tuesday and allowed only a single by Wally Moon and a double by Stan Musial. King and Face blanked the Cards without a hit in the final five innings.

The Pirates collected 11 hits off three St. Louis hurlers, including an inside-the-park home run by Bill Mazeroski and two doubles by Roman Mejias. The victory gave Pittsburgh a 10-5 Grapefruit League mark.

The Pirates take on the Kansas City Athletics at West Palm Beach Thursday.

Peacocks Sweep In DIC League

Standings show Peacocks, 20-5; Flamingos, 16-9; Concords, 10-15; and Robins, 9-16.

Even Stengel Admits Yankees Are Loaded

By LEO H. PETERSEN

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., (UP) —Even Casey Stengel admits the Yankees "are really loaded" this year.

Stengel, shooting for his eighth pennant in nine years as skipper of the Yankees, points out that "I have guys who can play four positions. My problem is not whom to play, but to remember the names of all my guys so I can tell the right ones to go in there."

Stengel, however, doesn't believe it will be a "walkaway."

"Not so long as you have clubs like the Tigers, White Sox, Red Sox and Indians in the same league," he said. "But I must be honest and say I'm very optimistic."

He started running down his pitching staff, leading off with southpaw Whitey Ford (19-6). Then in order he mentioned Don (Perfect Game) Larsen (11-5), Bob Turley (8-4), Tom Sturdivant (16-8), Bob Grim (6-1), and Johnny Kucks (18-9).

Add Two More

Add to them the two hurlers the Yankees obtained from the Athletics. Art Ditmar (12-22) and Bobby Shantz (2-7), and Stengel asks: "Who figures to have better pitching?"

The answer is, no one.

Mickey Mantle, the triple crown champion—having won the American League hitting title with an average of .353, the runs batted in crown with 130 and the home run title with 52—will anchor the outfield in center with Hank Bauer in right. That leaves left field open and right now it looks like one of the Yankees prize rookies, Tony Kubek, will win the job.

Skowron At First

Stengel was prevented from giving Bill Skowron, the hard-hitting first baseman, a thorough workout at third when Skowron fractured his thumb, so he probably will start the season at first base.

McDougald is sure of the shortstop job and Stengel considers him the best in the league.

"He won't hit with that guy in Detroit (Harvey Kuenn) or field with that fella in Chicago (Luis Aparicio), but overall in both departments he does a better job." Stengel claims.

Pepper-pot Billy Martin will be either at second or third base. However, Andy Carey, who has been the regular at third, has been hitting hard this spring and could keep the job.

In the catching department, brilliant Yogi Berra will be supported by Elston Howard and Darrell Johnson.

Three Romps in Ladies League

Three matches in the Ladies City League concluded in clean sweeps last night.

Cedar Crest topped Sweetbriar, Vassar blanked Monte Cassino, and Bryn Mawr rolled over Mt. Mercy.

In other matches, Ladycliff took a pair from Wheaton, Wellesley topped Rosemont twice and Villa Maria handled Seton Hill in a pair of games.

Scoring leaders were Minnie Koltash, 199-440; Tootsie Cieply, 180-441; Marge Opalinski, 158-373; Carrie Palm, 159-407; Helen Wolford, 123-331; Mary Vesio. 134-375; Connie Magatz, 140-340; Rosemary Betza. 137-356; Gertie Salay, 134-351; Helen Zdilla, 136-377; Norma Fayer, 139-361; Ena Labeka, 107-302; Jean Sandis, 157-395; Marie Columbus, 124-357; Shirley Mattheson, 133-347; and Sara Pascotti, 129-346.

Braves Feel This Is Their Year to Win

BRADENTON, Fla. (UP)—The Milwaukee Braves feel this is the year they are going all the way.

Wiping the memory of a disappointing 1956 finish out of his mind, Manager Fred Haney is "very happy" about Milwaukee's prospects this year and says "there is a lot more determination among the players."

Haney is convinced the Braves will win "if we get the same pitching we did last year. Personally, I feel it is going to be even better."

That belief is based on the hope that big Gene Conley, who won only eight games last season because of shoulder trouble, will come back to his 1955 form when he won 11 games and seemed to be on his way to becoming one of the best right handers in the league.

Four More Mound Stars

As other starters the Braves are counting on Warren Spahn, who has had seven 20-game winning seasons, more than any other left hander in National League history Bob Buhl an 18-game winner who specializes in beating Brooklyn; Lew Burdette, who won 19; and Ray Crone, who won 11.

The Braves had trouble with their relief pitching last season because Dave Jolly and Ernie Johnson did not live up to expectations. Both seem to be sound again.

Lefty Taylor Phillips and righty Bob Trowbridge, both with the club last season, are sure to stick. The tenth spot on the pitching staff is a toss-up among Lou Sleater, Corky Valentine, the ex-Redleg; and Red Murff.

Del Crandall, who fell off to .238 in hitting last year, will be the No. 1 catcher with Del Rice and the left-handed hitting Carl Sawatski behind him.

Three Infielders Set

Three of the infield spots are set—big Joe Adcock at first, home run hitting Ed Mathews at third and pepper-pot Johnny Logan at short.

Danny O'Connell, who hasn't lived up to expectations either in the field or at bat, is the leading candidate for second base, but Felix Mantilla, who was coming fast at the close of last season, could beat out O'Connell for the job. Haney is hoping that whichever one wins out, will develop into the lead-off hitter.

National League batting king Hank Aaron will patrol right field with the fleet Billy Bruton in center. But it's a wide open battle for the left field spot with Wes Covington and Bobby Thomson, the ex-Giant star, battling it out for the starting berth. The veteran Andy Pafko also is available for duty there, as well as pinch hitting chores.

Harvey Kuenn Is Hitting at .404 Clip in Exhibition Play

By UNITED PRESS

Harvey Kuenn is serving sharp notice this spring that he may be the "man to beat" for the American League batting title.

The experts have been forecasting a battle among Ted Williams, Mickey Mantle and Al Kaline, but the 26-year old Kuenn looks like he's geared for a fast start that could leave 'em all far behind. He's belting the ball at a .404-clip, has hit in 10 straight games and connected safely in all but one of the 15 games he's played.

Kuenn enjoyed his best day of the spring Tuesday when he drove in five runs with a homer, two doubles and a single to lead the Detroit Tigers to an 8-4 victory over the Cincinnati Redlegs. The victory was the Tigers' fourth in six games after they started their Grapefruit League campaign with eight defeats in 10 contests.

Mueller Grand-Slams

The Pittsburgh Pirates scored their 10th win in 16 exhibition games when they got two-hit pitching from Dick Hall, Nelson King and Elroy Face to beat the St. Louis Cardinals, 4-0. The Pirates walloped Murry Dickson and Jim Davis for 11 hits, including a homer by Bill Mazeroski.

The New York Giants, who are developing into a real spring surprise, downed the Baltimore Orioles, 7-6, and now have won 11 of 16 Grapefruit League games. Don Mueller pulled this one out of the fire with a grand-slam homer with two out in the ninth after Bob Speake's four runs-batted-in provided the Cubs with a 6-3 lead.

The Baltimore Orioles handed the puzzling Cleveland Indians their seventh setback in eight games when they rallied for three runs in the ninth and a 7-6 decision. Wayne Causey tied the score with a two-run single and then 19-year old sensation Brooks Robinson, who knocked in three earlier runs, delivered him with the game-winning tally.

Dodgers In Rout

The Brooklyn Dodgers poured over seven runs in the third inning and went on to rout the Philadelphia Phillies, 8-3. Doubles by Don Newcombe, Gino Cimoli, Carl Furillo and Charley Neal featured the big uprising against southpaw Harvey Haddix.

Roy Sievers' ninth-inning single was the big blow of a battle of homers as the Washington Senators tripped the Kansas City Athletics, 8-7. Bob Cerv hit two homers and Gus Zernial and Hal Smith one each for Kansas City while Harmon Killibrew delivered a grand-slam round-tripper for the Senators.

Jimmy Piersall homered in the 10th inning to enable the Boston Red Sox to shade the Los Angeles Angels of the Pacific Coast League, 6-5. Red Sox rookie outfielder Marty Keough hit two homers while Jim Baxes homered twice and Steve Bilko blasted a round-tripper for Los Angeles.

Floyd Patterson's Manager Asks for Bids on Fight

NEW YORK, (UP) — Cus D'Amato, manager of heavyweight champion Floyd Patterson, invited "open bidding" among promoters today for a June title fight.

He extended the invitation, he claimed, because he is "very cool" toward the International Boxing Club, "Which broke its word with me about using my preliminary boxers."

D'Amato said he was not excluding Promoter Jim Norris and his IBC from the bidding, "But before they can do any business with us, they have a big re-selling job to do."

D'Amato said he preferred a big outdoor fight in a major city, "without television of any kind," and with Tommy (Hurricane) Jackson as challenger.

No Connection

He claimed that his "dispute" with the IBC had no connection whatever with the recent federal-court verdict finding the Norris organization guilty of monopoly in its promotion of world title fights.

"Patterson and I are completely independent," he claimed. "We have no contracts or understandings with Norris or any other promoter. We're out to make the most money we can with any reliable promoter—anywhere," he said.

Patterson, 22, is now doing preliminary training at Greenwood Lake, N.Y., for his first defense of the title he won last Nov. 30 by knocking out Archie Moore in an elimination final at Chicago.

Help Get Homes For Middle Group

WASHINGTON (UP)—Sen. Joseph S. Clark Jr. (D-Pa) has introduced a bill to assist families of moderate income and the aged to buy or rent new homes.

Clark said that the government's new home construction program is currently directed "almost entirely" to assist the higher income families. These families, he said, "actually need help the least."

The one program designed for low income families—public housing—has been "permitted to dwindle to a ridiculously low level," Clark said.

His bill, introduced Monday, would create a National Mortgage Corp. within the existing Housing and Home Finance Agency and authorize it to issue obligations and make loans initially up to $1 billion.

Turkey Growers Are Warned of Expansion

By UNITED PRESS

Turkey producers are cautioned against over-expansion because growers throughout the country intend to produce about 10 per cent more turkeys in 1957 than last year, according to Penn State extension poultry marketing specialists.

The experts said producers should make careful examination of production costs if they intend to increase output. All regions except the North Atlantic area are planning increases.

Although turkey consumption will continue to rise, prices are expected to be lower than last year.

Actual production, however, is likely to deviate from intention because of possible rises in feed costs and the supply of young poults.

Reports showed an increase of 12 per cent more breeder hens on farms last January than a year ago. Eggs in incubators in Februrary 1st were up 26 per cent.

4-H Club Winners

Five Pennsylvania 4-H dairy club members have been named the 1957 winners of the efficient production awards.

The winners are Reatha Snyder, 18, of Aliquippa, Beaver County, first place; Marjorie Henricks, 19, of Butler, Butler County, second place; Madelyn Weidman, 17, of Bangor, Northampton County, third place; Nicholas Chaykosky, 18, of Jermyn, Lackawanna County, fourth place; and Dorothy Hartle, 15, of Bellefonte, Centre County, fifth place.

The purpose of the awards is to utilize improved pastures, accurate records and home-grown feeds as means to efficient production. The awards are presented annually by the National Dairy Products Corporation and affiliated companies.

Competition is open to all club members carrying second-year heifer phase or third-year production projects. Winners are selected by the state 4-H Club staff and a representative of the dairy extension department of the Pennsylvania State University after nomination by county agents and local leaders.

Potato Recommendations

Potato varieties recommended by Penn State extension agronomists for early planting are Irish Cobbler, Cherokee and Chippewa. All three types should yield about the same according to the agronomists.

The mid-season varieties recommended are Katahdin, Red Pontiac and Teton. Red Pontiac usually yields more than the other varieties, but they said Katahdin almost always yields a high percentage of U. S. Number One potatoes.

Potatoes recommended for late planting are Russet Rural, Sebago and White Rural. The agronomist said Russet Rural is the variety most in demand for manufacturing potato chips.

Thirty per cent of the world's railway milage is in the United States.

WouldEnlargeJudicialSystem

HARRISBURG (UP)—The General Assembly today considered bipartisan legislation to enlarge the powers of the state Supreme Court in a move to improve the Commonwealth's judicial system.

The House legislation would authorize the state's highest court to appoint a court administrator to survey the entire judicial system and make recommendations or improvements. The administrator, to serve at the discretion of the Supreme Court, would receive $20,000 annually.

Companion legislation would permit the court to prescribe general rules of practice and procedure for all courts handling criminal cases and allow the assignment of common pleas or orphans' court judges to sit in any judicial district in the state.

The bills were sponsored by Reps. Edwin W. Tompkins (R-Cameron), Philip Lopresti (D-Cambria) and Herman Toll (D-Philadelphia).

DOCTORS SAY BABY IS DOOMED — At the bedside of four-year-old Dixie Lee LaHood, of Dallas, Tex., the mother, Mrs. Joseph LaHood, prays for a miracle which would save the sick child. Little Dixie Lee, blind and paralyzed for two years, was released from Babies' Hospital of Columbia — Presbyterian Medical Center in New York Sunday after 10 days of diagnostic tests. Doctors have given her just six months to a year to live. Her parents said "We're not giving up."

Local School Kids in Drive for Clothing

Monessen school children will collect good used clothing for needy children and adults in the United States and 30 countries overseas, it was announced today by Dr. Joseph Pallone, superintendent of schools.

The drive, which is part of World Clothing Week, will continue here for five days, April 8 through April 12, Pallone said.

He expressed the hope that every family in Monessen will begin now to gather up all the outgrown and worn clothing which accumulates in almost every household and send it to school during World Clothing Week. All types of infants, children's and adult clothing and shoes are needed.

"Statistics show that nearly half the world's children are inadequately clothed, housed and fed," Dr. Pallone said. "Thousands of children in our own United States cannot attend school regularly because they lack proper clothing.

"Overseas, orphaned and other needy children, and adults, too, desperately need help. Through World Clothing Week, the school children of Monessen, and the entire community, can make a substantial contribution toward alleviating the distress of these unfortunate children."

World Clothing Week is conducted under the auspices of the Christian Children's Fund, Inc. Since 1938 the fund has been active in child welfare work. Today, it provides vital assistance to orphaned and needy children in more than 200 orphanages in 30 countries.

A committee from Monessen Student Council will conduct the drive. Committee members are Cathy Parkinson, Bea Tobacco and Joan Kachmarik.

100 Million Pennies Wanted

NEW YORK (UP)—The Chemical Corn Exchange Bank today was trying to figure out how to fill an order for 100 million pennies. That's $1 million worth, or 10 per cent of the annual coinage of the one-cent piece.

Neither the customer nor the intended use of the pennies was disclosed by the bank, which said it hopes to make the delivery this year.

Delivery would present something of a problem, however. Federal reserve officials here said the 100 million pennies would weigh an estimated 30 tons and probably would have to be delivered in 20,000 bags, each roughly a foot square.

House for Changing Turnpike Names

HARRISBURG (UP)—The state Senate today received House-approved legislation to change the names of six interchanges along the Pennsylvania Turnpike.

The bill cleared the House Tuesday, 115-74, over Democratic objections to the cost involved in the proposal.

House Minority Leader Albert S. Readinger (D-Berks) led the opposition, citing Turnpike Commission figures that it would cost $23,500 to replace signs at each interchange and another $4,000 to replate tickets.

Rep. Enos H. Horst (R-Franklin), co-sponsor of the legislation, said the cost estimates were out of line.

"If it will cost $23,500 to replace six signs, then I'm in the wrong business," he said.

Another co-sponsor, Rep. George A. Goodling (R-York), termed the estimates "ridiculous." He said the signs would cost about $1,000 for each interchange and printing $200.

Rep. Marl H. Garlock (D-Fulton) said the renaming of the interchanges would give geographic significance to the pike exits but added $23,500 too much to pay.

Rep. Philip Lopresti (D-Cambria) said "We all have chambers of commerce to look out for" and added perhaps the Bedford and Somerset interchanges should be renamed to include Altoona and Johnstown.

The legislation would rename the following interchanges:

Blue Mountain Interchange to Shippensburg-Chambersburg; Harrisburg-West to West Shore-York; Gettysburg to Gettysburg - Mechanicsburg; Harrisburg - East to Harrisburg Highspire; Mahoning Valley to Lehighton, and Perry Highway to Warrendale-Ambridge Interchange.

Leader Appointee

HARRISBURG (UP) — Gov. George M. Leader today asked Senate confirmation of his appointment of Mrs. Margaret Smith, of Large Heights, Large, as justice of the peace for Jefferson Borough. The appointment which runs until January, 1958, replaces the late Theodore Smith.

Eight Days in Freight Car

WEST POINT, N.Y. (UP)— A physical and mental checkup was planned today for an 18-year-old cadet who subsisted on raw potatoes while trapped in a freight car for eight days.

Army doctors said Jerome Lee Gibbons, a plebe (first year man) from Fulton, N.Y., had been dehydrated by his ordeal and had lost about 15 pounds. Although weakened physically, he was reported in good condition.

Gibbons was found lying atop several potato bags Tuesday by three loaders who were about to unload the freight car in the Jersey City, N.J., yards of the Erie Railroad, about 35 miles from the U.S. Military Academy.

The cadet told railroad police this story:

Fearing that he had failed a semi-annual physical test, he left the academy the afternoon of Sunday, March 17, "Because I just wanted to get away from it all."

He then walked 20 miles to Campbell Hall where he climbed into the freight car, believing it to be headed upstate toward Fulton. The door then locked automatically and Gibbons found himself sealed in.

The next day, the car, loaded with potatoes, was moved to Jersey City where it sat at a siding until Tuesday. For days he banged on the box car door, but to no avail. Without water to drink, Gibbons nibbled on the potatoes for subsistence. To keep warm, he huddled between the potato bags.

The ancient Aztecs of Mexico used captives as human sacrifices to their gods.

TRAIN MAROONED IN KANSAS — Wedged in between huge snow drifts is the stranded Rock Island Golden State passenger train, pictured here Monday afternoon when rescuers had not yet reached the train. People in photo are passengers. The train was trapped 10 miles west of Meade, Kansas, during the violent blizzard which hit the state. (United Press Telephoto).

TV Or Not TV

MUSKEGON, Mich. (UP)—Guy Stuffler thinks one of his neighbors doesn't like television. Stiffler complained to police Tuesday that someone had climbed onto his roof and cut the wires connecting his TV set to its antenna.

At Least 40 Die in Mideast Blizzard

By UNITED PRESS

Near normal rail and highway traffic returned to the western plains today in the wake of a devastating blizzard that claimed at least 40 lives.

Rescue and work crews in the 13 states hit hardest by the storm were aided by rising temperatures in their efforts to restore normalcy to the vast region.

A United Press tally since late Friday showed at least 40 storm deaths, nine of them in Illinois, eight in Texas, seven in Kansas, five in Oklahoma, three each in Nebraska and Indiana, two in Missouri and one each in New Mexico, Iowa and Ohio.

A full estimate of property damage in the four-day storm, that piled up drifts as high as 30 feet, probably will not be available for several days.

Southwest Bell Telephone Co. estimated its loss in wrecked equipment alone at more than $1 million. Property and livestock losses will add to that figure, but part of the loss is expected to be offset by the needed moisture provided by the storm.

Farm officials in drought-stricken Iowa estimated the blizzard moisture was worth about $1 million to crops.

Four trains still were halted at stations in Kansas, waiting for plows to clear the way out. Railroad spokesmen said the trains are expected to be able to resume their journeys by today.

Weathermen said the storm, although no longer intense, still is active. It dumped snow from Michigan through Western Pennsylvania Tuesday night, leaving a 2 to 6-inch blanket over sections of Pennsylvania.

Flurries were expected to continue today over most of Pennsylvania and New York. Showers were predicted for Kansas, Oklahoma and Missouri, but fair skies were forecast elsewhere in the West.

Warmer temperatures were expected from Kansas and Texas east to Illinois and across the Gulf states.

Asks Confirmation

HARRISBURG (UP) — Gov. George M. Leader today asked Senate confirmation of his appointment of James W. Hawkins, 1175 Eighth St., Waynesburg, to the Greene County Board of Assistance. The appointment, which runs until Dec. 31, 1959, replaces Albert A. Sayers, Waynesburg, whose term expired.

3 Memorials

In loving memory of our dear mother and grandmother, Mrs. Augusta Sanderson, who died one year ago today, March 27, 1956.
What would we give her hand to clasp,
Her patient face to see;
To hear her voice, to see her smile,
As in the days that used to be
But in some sweet day we'll meet again
Beyond the toil and strife,
And clasp each other's hand once more,
In Heaven, that happy life.
Sadly missed by Mr. and Mrs. Robert Johnston and Daughters.

In loving memory of our dear mother and grandmother, Mrs. Barbara Torbar, who died two years ago today, March 27, 1955.
Sad and sudden was the call
Of one so dearly loved by all;
A bitter grief; a shock severe:
It was to part with one so dear.
We often sit and think of you
And speak of how you died;
To think you could not say goodbye
Before you closed your eyes.
For all of us you did your best,
Oh, God, grant you eternal rest.
Sadly missed by Daughters, Son, Sons - in - law, Daughter - in-law, Grandchildren adn Great Grandchildren

In loving memory of our dear husband and father, Walter Kucmeroski, who died four years ago today, March 27, 1953.
You are not forgotten, loved one,
Nor will you ever be
As long as life and memory last
We shall remember thee.
We miss you now, our hearts are sore,
As time goes on we miss you more,
Your loving smile, your gentle face,
No one can fill your vacant place.
Sadly missed by Wife and Son

Texas Soldier's Death First in Army Exercise

FORT POLK, La. (UP)—A Texas soldier's death in a truck accident marred today's opening of operation "King Cole," the nation's biggest 1957 Army training exercise.

The Army will test a new "pentomic" organization for airborne and infantry combat units on make-believe atomic battlefields and try out new ballistic missiles in the 21-day maneuver of 25,000 troops over 13,000 acres in Louisiana and Texas.

Pfc. Albert L. Cooper of Port Arthur, Tex., became the third casualty of preparations for "King Cole" Tuesday night when his 2½ ton Army truck crashed east of Chimere, La., military spokesmen said.

Betsy Is Just an Objective Realist

PARIS (UP)—Betsy, the finger-painting chimpanzee of the Baltimore Zoo, is not a member of the abstract school at all. She's probably just an objective realist.

That opinion was expressed today by Georges Mathieu, France's leading abstract painter, who said he was intrigued by Betsy's pictorial pioneering.

Mathieu, a champion of the "direct power of signs which do not refer to any reality," was one of a number of rising figures in European art asked by United Press about Betsy's work.

Betsy's development as an artist has been reported in detail in the European press. Particular comment was evoked when a Berkeley, Calif., jury barred one of her finger-paintings from a sidewalk show.

Oppose Monkey Show

A survey of both the Left and Right Bank of Paris indicated that French galleries would on the whole oppose the idea of a one-monkey show for Betsy.

"The artists would go out of their minds if they heard we exhibited a monkey's work," said a woman employe at the Galerie Rive-Droite, which specializes in contemporary work.

At the unconventional Galerie Facchetti, Director J. P. Facchetti said "It's a good joke but it's gone far enough."

Mathieu took a more serious view.

He said he would like to know if Betsy is "expressing herself directly or if she is simply painting an imitation of human painters.

The Gestalt Theory

"Philosophically, Betsy's work is interesting in terms of the Gestalt theory if she creates signs which frighten or please here," he said.

Mathieu added that Betsy is not a member of the abstract school although "to profane eyes, her work may resemble non-objective painting.

"A chimpanzee could hardly go through the evolution that produced painters like Mondiran and Pollock," he explained.

"It's much more likely that she's an objective realist."

Mathieu was joined in his thoughtful appraisal by Rudolf Springer, owner of West Berlin's best - known modern gallery. Berlin has long been a center of artistic development.

"Modern painting is the expression of movement," Springer said. "A painting chimpanzee is very interesting. It shows the movement of an ape, the form of expression of a creature created by God."

Springer found a parallel in Betsy's work to "contemporary painting known as the theory of automatic painting."

"But an ape's painting can never be regarded as art," he feels, "for every work of art needs the creative spirit of a human being."

Urges Salary Increase for State Employes

HARRISBURG (UP)—The Pennsylvania State Employes Council today called for a $2-a-day "bread and butter" salary increase for the Commonwealth's 60,000 employes.

Reuben H. Miller, president of the AFL-CIO group, said the average salary of state workers is $3,450 a year and the rise in cost of basic needs, such as food, clothing and shelter "could only be met by the basic daily increase of $2."

"The state must be realistic about salaries, and employes are going further into debt with each pay," Miller said. "Employes are leaving state jobs for better salaries in industry and the federal government."

The council's executive board, in addition to urging the $2 increase, effective May 1, also called for statewide civil service and a 14-point fringe benefit and job security program.

Better Than Elvis?

GIBRALTAR, Mich. (UP)—Jessie Howard thought his electric guitar was haunted Tuesday when he picked it up and it began playing music before he began strumming. Howard learned later the guitar had picked up a broadcast from a nearby radio station.

'Men of Annapolis' Actors Earn Money

By WILLIAM EWALD

NEW YORK (UP)—Bill Castle, producer of a new TV series, "Men of Annapolis," is having the tar beaten into him.

Castle took over the reins of the syndicated show last year when ZIV, an independent outfit, received permission from the Navy to turn out a series based on the Naval Academy at Annapolis.

William Ewald

"Before I did anything else, I spent a whole month at Annapolis," said Castle today. "I actually attended classes — things like ordnance and gunnery, seamanship and navigation — sat in on meetings and talked constantly with Middies.

"Then I lined up five writers and sent them to Annapolis for a two week indoctrination course. It was all pretty necessary. You know, the Navy is terribly snobbish, terribly aristocratic. They have a long and proud tradition and we knew we'd really have to toe the line on this one."

The Navy informed Castle in advance that he would not be permitted to take license with any phase of academy life.

"They insisted that each show be perfect technically," said Castle. "That means, for example, we couldn't have a plebe drive a car or keep a pet or go out with a girl

"We've got one commander and two naval lieutenants overseeing the show. One story that takes place in a terrain room had to be rewritten seven times before it was satisfactory. Another scene in a damage control room had to be rewritten 10 times."

The Navy's interest in the series has its strong advantages, too, pointed out Castle.

"The co-operation is fantastic," he said. "We have the entire Academy at our disposal—3800 men. If you want a plane, they get it for you. If you want a submarine, they get that, too.

"I wanted to shoot a football scene, so they gave me the whole varsity. I wanted frogmen and I got 'em. I wanted the Navy goat and I got it. We had one story about the dog of the governor of Maryland. They not only got us his dog, they got us the governor's house."

Castle, who is shooting about half a dozen shows a month at the Academy, recently polished off an episode at sea.

"They gave us a whole destroyer," he said. "And it was quite an experience. One cameraman got seasick and so did one actor. And then in our climactic scene, we almost lost another actor.

"The scene called for him to ditch his jet plane and get in a liferaft. Trouble is, the raft got away and he was alone in the water for an hour and a half before we could fish him out. He almost drowned.

"Well, we're pretty flexible. So we just changed around the whole story and left it that way. Like the rest of the series, it looked real authentic."

Theater Tax Would Be Prohibited

HARRISBURG (UP) — Most Pennsylvanians would be relieved of all local taxes on motion picture theater admissions under a bipartisan bill introduced in the Legislature Monday.

The bill sponsored by Sen. M. Harvey Taylor (R-Dauphin) and Sen. John H. Dent (D-Westmoreland) would prohibit the 10 per cent amusement tax on movie admissions in all municipalities except Philadelphia.

Unconscious Fears Said To Keep Many Single

By H. N. BUNDESEN, M. D.

Some persons have an unconscious fear of marriage.

While to all outward appearances they seem to have valid reasons for not marrying, a number of single persons actually have an unrecognized marriage phobia.

This, at least, is the view of a leading psychiatrist, Dr. Jacob H. Friedman, director of the Neuropsychiatric Service of Fordham Hospital and chief of the Mental Hygiene Clinic at Lebanon Hospital.

Physical health, it seems, has little to do with it in most cases. Rather, unconscious motivating factors are frequently to blame.

Writing in a recent issue of the Journal of the Hillside Hospital, Glen Oaks, New York, Dr. Friedman reports that the nine most common female rationalizations for not marrying are:

Fear of pregnancy, fear of inheritance of mental illness, parental attachment, fear of infidelity of the future husband, guilt in relation to a childhood sexual activity.

Desire for a wealthy husband, fear of marital relations, fear that a husband will possess undesirable traits of father or brother, a feeling that being jilted by one man means that all men are no good.

Most common rationalizations for men not marrying include:

Marriage entails too much responsibility, marriage means loss of liberty, the feeling that being deceived by one woman means all women are no good, an aggressive feeling toward the mother with the resulting belief that "all women are like mothers."

Marriage is too much a gamble as shown by the divorce rate, women are untrustworthy, married women are too demanding and want too much, fear of inheritance of mental illness.

Men also often set too high a standard in seeking a wife.

Sometimes these may be the real reasons why persons remain single. Sometimes there are other reasons. For a large number of married persons, however, a psychiatrist may be of some help.

Bank Guard Tells About Killing Man

By ALFRED LEECH

CHICAGO (UP) — Big Ed Vyzral found himself a hero overnight. But for Ed, it was a sleepless night.

"Killing a man is no way to gain fame," he said in his Irish brogue. "I didn't sleep a wink the night after it happened."

It was during the noon rush when the bandit walked up to the cashier's cage of Mrs. Mary Merritt, 21, in the Chicago Federal Savings and Loan Office. The downtown office was jammed.

Ed Vyzral, 63, was on duty as a guard. Hands folded, he smiled his Irish smile at old customers.

Before he retired and took the guard job three years ago, Big Ed had been a Chicago policeman for 30 years. And he never had to fire a shot in anger.

But when the time came he made it count.

Thomas Maley, first floor manager, spotted Mary Merritt's silent alarm light signal and strode over to Vyzral.

"I think there's a holdup at cage 9," he said.

"When I got there Mary was smiling a big, wide smile," Ed said. "So I figured it was no holdup.

"I rapped the guy on the shoulder and asked, 'What's going on here?' He turned and fired twice. Both times the gun misfired, and by the grace of the good Lord I'm alive today."

Maybe Ed should have approached with his gun drawn, but there were two women at a stamp machine behind the bandit, directly in Ed's line of fire.

"I backed away and ducked behind a post," Vyzral said. "The guy ducked behind a counter. I fired two wild shots on purpose, hoping to scare him. I hollered, 'Why don't you give up?'

"I dasn't fire any more, because each round you waste you're closer to death.

"Then the guy leaned out with his gun in his hand to take a shot. I hit him in the shoulder and there was a funny look on his face. He fell and I fired two more, one in the chest and one in the head.

"I wasn't scaired. But when it was over, my knees were a little shaky. And the thoughts of killing a man made me a little sick. But thank God I didn't kill an innocent bystander."

Fayette County Case Argued in Supreme Court

PITTSBURGH (UP)—A Fayette County man's charges that his wife forged his name to a deed so she could sell an apartment building to their daughter was argued before the Pennsylvania Supreme Court yesterday.

The case, previously thrown out by Fayette County Court, involves an action brought by John Stanko, owner of a six-family apartment building, who contended his wife forged his name in the sale of the property to Mary and Charles K. Males of Connellsville, Pa.

Court records showed Stanko to be an illiterate.

The property, which had a market value in 1951 of $38,000, was sold to the Males by Mrs. Mary Stanko for $2,000 and assumption of a $20,000 mortgage. Mrs. Males is a daughter of the Stankos.

Stanko had charged in the lower court that he had never authorized his wife to sell the property or to sign his name to a deed.

A handwriting expert subsequently ruled that Stanko's name had been forged to the document. The case was finally dismissed from the lower court and Stanko filed exceptions.

Plymouth Oil Reports Good Year in 1956

PITTSBURGH (UP)—The Plymouth Oil Co. said today that out of 127 wells the firm drilled last year 107 were producers.

President Walter S. Hallanan president in the firm's annual report, said the company had 1,284 gross producing wells at the end of 1956 and it was "quite reasonable to expect" that 1957 profits would exceed last year.

Plymouth reported $3.22 per share for 1956 with net earnings of $7,955,588, as compared to a net of $6,888,159 in 1955.

Hallanan predicted improved earnings in 1957 with the "full knowledge that the industry outlook...is complicated by a multiplicity of problems and paradoxes." He cited the continued rise in the cost of operations, inadequate prices for crude oil and an ever-growing increase in imports as the most difficult problems facing domestic oil producers.
